Benton elected treasurer of Alliance of Approved Private Schools

Pamela Benton of Malvern recently was elected Treasurer of the Board of Directors of The Alliance of Approved Private Schools. Benton is the Finance Administrator of Camphill Special School in Glenmoore, PA.

The Alliance for Approved Private Schools is an organization of Pennsylvania private schools that provide a wide range of comprehensive special education programs and services to the Commonwealth's children who are diagnosed as having serious disabilities. The Alliance is dedicated to promoting the education and general welfare of children with disabilities.

Camphill Special School, established in 1963, is a private residential and day Waldorf school for children and youth, ages five to eighteen, with developmental disabilities. The school is a member of the Association of Waldorf Schools of North America and is recognized as an Approved Private School by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. For more information, visit www.beaverrun.org or call the School at 610.469.9236.
